SCORES DIE IN THEATER FIRE

Seven Hundred Attending Church Benefit Performance at Time.

ACTORS UPSET THE OIL LAMPS

Oil Adds to the Flames Which Leap to Ceiling—In the Wild Stampede Women and Children Are Trampled Upon—Fire Caused by Explosion.

Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 14.—Between seventy-five and one hundred persons were burned to death last night in a fire which destroyed the Rhoades Opera House in this place. Members of St. Johns Lutheran Sunday school were attending a benefit performance for that church and the place was crowded when a tank exploded.

The actors endeavored to quiet the audience and in their anxiety to make themselves heard and prevent a stampede of women and children, coal oil lamps used as foot lights were overturned, setting the building on fire. Fed by the oil, the flames shot almost to the ceiling, immedaitely followed by a mad rush of the 700 persons in the building. Scores of women and children were trampled down and several, escaping being burned, died after being dragged from the building. In many cases entire families have been wiped out.

Added to the fire was the failure of the fire apparatus to work properly and aid had to be summoned from Pottstown and Reading.

The theater is located on a plat by itself. Hundreds of persons surrounded the building, apparently unconscious of pending danger from falling walls. Many parents whose children were in the opera house paced to and fro almost maddened by the awful sight.

—Boyertown is a borough located about midway between Pottstown and Reading, population about 2,500.

DEBATE STIRRED HOUSE.

Vigorous Fight Over Bill to Codify the Penal Laws.

Washington, Jan. 14.—A vigorous fight was waged in the house Saturday over the bill to codify and revise the penal laws of the United States, with particular reference to section 19, affecting conspiracies against the civil rights of citizens. Messrs. Smith of Missouri and Hughes of New Jersey, offered amendments having for their object the exemption of labor unions from the operation of the section whenever such unions declare strikes or boycotts. A motion to strike out the whole section was made by Mr. Bartlett of Georgia.

The brunt of the debate was borne by Mr. Sherley of Kentucky, a member of the committee on revision, but he was supported by a number of republicans. These amendments were all lost, as was one by Mr. DeArmond to strike out section 20 because it conferred on federal courts in punishing felonies and misdemeanors committed under section 19 the authority given to the courts of the state in which the acts are committed. The only amendment to pass was one by Mr. Clark of Missouri striking out that portion of section 19 which provides for offenders the additional punishment of inability to hold any office of honor, trust or profit under the government.

Child Fatally Burned.

Atlanta, Jan. 14.—While playing in front of the fireplace Wilford Smith the eighteen-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Smith, received burns causing death almost immediately. It is not known exactly how the child managed to get near the fire in the grate for its parents were out of the room at the time. They returned instantly after hearing the baby's screams, but too late, for its body

HARRY THAW'S TRIAL.

Slayer of White For a Second Time Faces a Jury.

New York, Jan. 1".—In a brief speech Monday morning Assistant District Attorney Garvan presented the prosecution's side of the Thaw case. The evidence of James A. Smith will be introduced in the early stages of the taking of testimony. Mr. Smith visited the roof garden on the night of the shooting and had a long conversation with Thaw just a few minutes before he killed White. On the former trial, he testified that Thaw at the time showed no signs of mental derangement, but talked lucidly and coherently. Mr. Jerome considers him one of his best witnesses in the attempt to show that Thaw was in his right mind on the night of the shooting and that his act was not prompted by mental derangement.

Mr. Garvan occupied twenty minutes in his address, describing the killing of Stanford White as "a premeditated, deliberate, and cowardly murder"

Mr. Garvan dwelt at length upon the conversation Thaw had on the roof garden with James C. Smith, a brother-in-law of Stanford White. The conversation, he declared, was entirely sane, and was indulged in just a few minutes before the killing. Eight subjects from Wall street to ocean travel were discussed—all in a normal way.

Mrs. Evelyn Thaw listened to the assistant prosecutor's description of the actual details of the tragedy with tense, drawn features. Josiah Thaw, the brother, and Mrs. George L. Carnegie, the sister, completed the usual family group. Thaw sat with eyes fixed upon the prosecutor, his head resting upon his right hand.

After describing the shooting of White, Mr. Garvan declared in conclusion, that judged by any test, the prosecution believed the homicide could be explained as "a premeditated, deliberate and cowardly murder"

Walker H. Volkening, a draughtsman, was the first witness called. His diagram of the scene of the killing, which the prosecution used throughout the first trial, was introduced in evidence. A year ago this witness was not cross-examined. Mr. Littleton for the defense, Monday questioned him at length as to all the physical details of Madison Square Garden at the time he made the drawing. No motion to exclude witnesses was made and young Mrs. Thaw and the other members of the defendant's family listened to the evidence for the first time.

Army Sergeant Killed by Negro.

Pensacola, Fla., Jan. 14—Sergeant Oscar Gatling, of the Twentieth company of coast artillery, was murdered at Fort Barrancas Sunday by James Hart, a negro, the latter firing four bullets into the body of the sergeant and producing instant death. Hart immediately made his escape from the post, but was captured by police officers, who had been notified of the murder, and who had been stationed at the various roads and bridges leading from Fort Barrancas to the city. According to reports, the negro had a grudge against the sergeant.

SEVERE LOSS BY FIRE

Union Station Annex Burned at Kansas City, Mo.

LOSS AGGREGATES $250,000

Fire Is Supposed To Have Started by Crossed Electric Wires—Union Station Proper, an Old Landmark, Was Saved After a Hard Fight.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 14.—The Union station annex in Union avenue, adjoining the union railway station, was destroyed by fire early Monday morning.

The union station proper, one of Kansas City's landmarks, was saved by the firemen after a hard fight.

The burned building contained the receiving offices of the Adams, Wells-Fargo and the Pacific Express companies, a branch mailing room of the postoffice, the offices of the Fred Harvey Eating House company, the Pullman Palace Car company's linen room and the Railway Men's Y. M. C. A. rooms.

The loss is estimated at a quarter of a million dollars.

The fire was first discovered at 4 o'clock, and was caused by crossed electric light wires over the registry department of the mailing room.

BIGGEST CAFE IN WORLD.

Broadway To Have One that Will Seat $8,000 Persons.

New York, Jan. 14.—Broadway, the street of bright lights and restaurants, is to have according to the plans said to be nearing completion, the biggest restaurant in the world.

It will occupy an entire block on Broadway and will be capable of seating 8,000 persons. The property to be occupied extends from Forty-third to Forty-fourth streets on the west side of Broad way, across the street from the Hotel Astor, and is now occupied by an old-fashioned four-story apartment house.

This building, according to the plans, is to be entirely remodeled and the lower floor turned into an enormous cafe capable of seating 4,000 persons. The roof of the building will be turned into a great garden seating 4,000 more, which will be open in the summer and covered with a glass roof in the winter. The garden wil be sodded and trees and plants will be grown in it. In the center is to be a fifty foot lake and there will be fountains and colored lights and everything to make it as near a park in the center of the city as may be. The garden will be modeled after the gardens of Trianon at Versailles. It is said that the money behind the new enterprise has been furnished by several western coal men and that very little New York money will be invested.

NEW SWINDLE UNEARTHED.

Lurid Pamphlets Describing Killing of White by Thaw.

New York, Jan. 14.—Clerks and stenographers in down town office buildings are being besieged by men and women who have found a new swindle. They sell pamphlets describing Harry K. Thaw and his wife and the killing of Stanford White, claiming that they are raising a defense for Thaw. The pamphlets are lurid to a degree and at least one of them is written in verse.

The pamphlets sell for 25 cents, and prospective purchasers are urged to buy with stories of the need for a defense fund if Thaw is to have a fair trial.

No arrests have yet been made, but Thaw's friends and lawyers have reported the matter to the police and asked them to keep a lookout for the swindlers.

Newberry Withdraws Candidacy.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 14.—It was announced here Monday morning through Congressman Denby that Assistant Secretary of the Navy Truman Newberry, has withdrawn his candidacy

NEWSBOYS ATTACK POLICE.

Officers Roughly Handled by Newsies At Boston, Mass.

Boston, Jan. 14.—Three officers were assaulted, stripped of their badges and hats, and one officer and a bystander seriously injured Saturday in an attack made on the police by two hundred newsboys in front of the Boston American newspaper office. Three of the newsboys were placed under arrest.

The trouble was an incident in a strike of union newsboys called last Tuesday against a local newspaper, which it is claimed, has raised the price of the paper to the boys.

There was little trouble until Saturday, however, when the paper found nonunion boys to take out the papers.

At the North station, and at the subway entrance the appearance of wagons filled with papers was a signal for the union boys to attack. Thousands of papers were torn up and strewn in the streets.

On Ruanmel street the attempt of an officer to arrest a newsboy led to an attack by his comrades. The officer was having a hard struggle when two other officers arrived. The police were severely handled. Officer Buchannon and a bystander named John Chamberlain were taken to the Emergency hospital suffering from lacerations and wounds.

A special meeting of the Central Labor unions has been called to take action upon the claims of the newsboys.

EIGHT MEN WERE DROWNED.

Barge Sank in the Eanuco River in Mexico.

Tampico, Mexico, Jan. 14.—Eight men were drowned in the Eanuco river by the sinking of a barge. The barge belonged to E. M. Fowley and had been sent across the river with a gang of twenty men to load oyster shells. On the return it was being towed by the steam launch Acme belonging to the Agencia Commerciale y Maritima.

When in the middle of the river a large steam tug passed down the river so near the barge, which was heavily laden, that the swell caused the barge to careen and sink.

All twenty men were thrown into the water and foreman Lucas and seven men were drowned. The responsibility for the accident will be investigated.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT.

Sporting Editor of the Houston, Tex., Post Is Killed.

Houston, Tex., Jan. 14.—In an endurance race in which sixteen automobiles participated over country roads covering 112 miles, an accident occurred on the final run Sunday in which John Trenton, sporting editor of the Houston, Post, was killed by a collision with a street car; Brown Botts was injured internally, and Ray Weise, a general sales agent of the Kirby Lumber company, was badly bruised.

Trenton was in a car which had lost a tire. The wheel without a tire caught on a street car track and the automobile was thrown against an oncoming car. Trenton was instantly killed. The others were injured by the car turning over.

Half a Million Fire In New York.

New York, Jan. 14.—A block of five story tenement buildings extending from Ninety-third street to Ninety-fourth street, on Fourth avenue, and which had been remodeled for factory purposes and which were occupied by a half dozen enterprises, was burned early Sunday, causing a loss of about $500,000. Adam Hoffell Iron works, L. Ehelman Iron works, Hallenber & Buscher, machinists; Kraall Button Company, and the American Rug company suffered most.

IMPORTANT MEETING

Tenth Annual Gathering National Guard Association.

TO MEET AT BOSTON, MASS.

Efforts Will Be Made to Accomplish a Closer Union of the Amateur and Professional Soldiers of the Country. War Department Represented.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 14.—At a congress of militia officers and men, representing a national organized volunteer force of more than 100,000 members, and an unorganized constituency of 11,000,000 available men, to be held in this city during the next three days, efforts will be made to accomplish a closer union of the amateur and professional soldiers of the country. Officers representing the war department will also be present.

The occasion of the gathering is the tenth annual meeting of the national guard association of the United States. The convention will be held in Old Faneuil hall.

General Charles Dick, author of the bill bearing his name, under which the national guard has been re-organized, and president of the organization, will preside.

The five years' period within which the provisions of the bill were to operate has elapsed, and so active is the demand for new legislation, that many delegates are coming to the convention with formal suggestions advocating important changes in the national laws.

Among such proposed changes, one by General Charles A. Drain, of New York, will be among the first to which the convention will give consideration. He will suggest that the national guard at the outbreak of a war, be passed from state to federal control, except as to the commander-in-chief, and that it be part of the first outline with the regular army, ready for immediate service in war when the president might wish to use it.

The war department at Washington, considers the convention as one of unusual importance, and its delegation will include Robert Oliver Shaw, assistant secretary of the department; Brigadier Generals George B. Davis, and W. W. Witherspoon, and Colonel E. M. Weaver, of the general staff.

HIS PECULIAR WILL.

Man Wants His Bones Made Into Buttons and His Skin Tanned.

New York, Jan. 14.—Priding himself on his ideas of utilitarianism, Henry E. Sullivan has made a will by which he directs his executors to make use, after his death, of every portion of his body for which a use can be found. His bones are to be made into buttons; his skin is to be tanned for leather and violin strings are to be made of such portions of his body as lend themselves to that use. All of these products, Mr. Sullivan directs, are to be given to his particular friend, James Hayes, who is to distribute the articles among Sullivan's friends as he sees fit.

In discussing his peculiar will, he says that he has always been an utilitarian, and has for many years believed that it was foolish to cherish any sentiment for a dead body.

Burial, he believes, not only to be unsanitary, but a great waste of material which can be put to good use.

Strange Coincidence.

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 14.—Mrs. C. C. Byrd, aged 32 years, arose Friday night to get a drink of water. As she stood at the pitcher she dropped to the floor dead. On October 28 last, her husband, C. C. Byrd, died in the same way, having gotten up to get a drink of water. The malady in both cases was apoplexy.

Fell in Fire While Asleep.

Huntsville, Ala., Jan. 14.—David Smith, 83 years of age, was burned to death Saturday night at his home a few miles north of Huntsville. His dead body was found lying in the open wood fireplace burned almost to a cinder, and it is believed that he fell

GAINESVILLE BANKS ELECTED OFFICERS

Tuesday Was Day for Banks to Get Together and Make Showing.

GAINESVILLE SHOWED UP FINE

Three Banks Held Annual Meetings, Elected Officers, and Discussed Matters Generally of Interest to Themselves and the People.

The First National Bank, one of the oldest and most substantial institutions of the kind in this section of the State, held its annual meeting of stockholders on Tuesday, when the following well-known business men were elected as directors:

F. J. Hammond, Hawthorn; C. D. Wood, Archer; H. C. Parker, La-Crosse; H. L. Dickinson, McIntosh; Jas. M. Graham, Geo. W. Hyde, Lee Graham, Perry M. Colson, E. Baird, W. W. Hampton, H. E. Taylor, Gainesville.

The meeting was well attended, and the stockholders were well pleased over the prosperous business of the past six months.

A semi-annual dividend of five per cent was declared, which showed a wise, safe and conservative management on the part of those in charge of the affairs of the institution. The money panic which has been prevailing throughout the North did not seem to shock the nerves of this meeting, which was one of the most successful, financially and otherwise, which was ever held since the bank was organized.

The increased surplus fund of the First National Bank is $15,000, while the undivided profits amount to $19,800.

The meeting of the stockholders of the Gainesville National Bank was also held on Tuesday, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing term, being the same as have managed the institution faithfully and efficiently since its organization:

T. W. Shands, president; Wm. R. Steckert, vice-president; Chas. A. Faircloth, cashier. Directors—Wm. R. Steckert, Dr. M. H. DePass, Henry Davis, John F. Jackson, James L. Medlin, Robert D. Crawford, T. W. Shands, Chas. A. Faircloth.

At this meeting those present felt very much encouraged. Notwithstanding that the bank has been in business less than six months, $4,000 was passed to the surplus account, and more than $2,000 was left in the undivided profits account. It was decided at this meeting not to pay any dividends, as the bank has only been in business a few days over five months, and the directors thought best to accumulate a surplus account before they began paying dividends.

In all, the condition of the Gainesville National Bank is something which the stockholders, officers and directors have a right to feel proud of.

The annual meeting of the stockholders and directors of the old and reliable Dutton Bank was held in the offices of the bank Tuesday, and those present were most jubilant over the excellent financial success of that institution since the reorganization, when the Dutton Bank succeeded H. F. Dutton & Co., bankers, six months ago. While Dutton & Co. were always regarded as among the safest and most conservative bankers in the South, the reorganization of the institution, under the management of W. R. Thomas as president, infused new life and energy. Major Thomas, being a young man full of vigor and energy, and a man whom the people had learned to trust, made a "showing" from the day he assumed the responsible position of managing the institution, with the result that business continued to grow day by day until there is no more prosperous institution of the kind in the country, and none in which there is more confidence placed. With a knowledge that their money is safe, depositors rest easy with the best wishes for the Dutton Bank.

The last report of the Dutton Bank, which was published on December 31, 1907, shows a capital paid in of $75,000, undivided profits, $6,070.88, which is a good showing and which is the best evidence of the confidence of the people.

At this meeting the old officers of the bank were re-elected as follows:

W. R. Thomas, president; C. W. Chase, first vice-president; G. K. Broome, second vice-president; E. D. Turner, cashier. The directors are H. F. Dutton, J. G. Nichols, G. K. Broome, S. J. Thomas, C. W. Chase, W. R. Thomas, J. A. Maultsby and W. B. Taylor.

In all the condition of the banks in Gainesville does not demonstrate any signs of a financial stringency, nor do they prophecy any difficulty in this direction. They are all prospering, which shows not only to the excellent business qualifications of the various managements of these institutions, but to the general prosperous conditions of the people of this section.

RAILROAD MAN SHOT.

W. E. Estes of Savannah Perhaps Fatally Wounded by Pistol Ball.

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 14.—W. E. Estes, general freight agent of the Central of Georgia railroad, was dangerously shot on Sunday morning, but physicians have some hopes of his recovery.

The shooting of Mr. Estes was accidental. He arrived at his home at an early hour. Mrs. Estes had been awakened early in the night by a noise in the house and she feared there might be a burglar at work. Arising, she placed an automatic pistol upon the table by her bed but later fell asleep. Upon the arrival of Mr. Estes she awakened, but presently fancied she heard the noise repeated. Calling to Mr. Estes she told him she thought there might be a burglar in the house and asked him to take the pistol and make a search. He reached for the pistol, and as Mrs. Estes was handing it to him it was discharged, the bullet entering Mr. Estes' right temple.

Mr. Estes came to Savannah ten years ago from Columbus, Ga. His home was at Hapeville, near Atlanta, where his father and mother reside.

MAKE THE STOMACH WORK.

Indigestion Can Never be Cured by Mollycoddling.

Don't try to cure your stomach trouble by coaxing, fussing, dieting and mollycoddling. Make the organ work. If it cannot take care of the food you eat without complaints such as flatulence, indigestion, headache and the feeling of fullness or distress, make its muscles work by using Mi-o-na stomach tablets.

The time to treat a disorder of weakened stomach is when you begin to suspect that you have indigestion, or the suspicion will turn to certainty very soon. The heartburn, the flatulence, the coated tongue and heavy and dull feeling after eating that come occasionally after you eat too much of something that does not agree with you, can all be cured by Mi-o-na.

Try a 50-cent box of Mi-o-na on J. W. McCollum & Co's. guarantee of money back if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

Officers Re-Elected.

Augusta, Ga., Jan. 14.—The annual meeting of the board of education of Richmond county took place when President J. L. Fleming and Secretary Lawton B. Evans were re-elected Saturday. The most important report was that made by the auditor in connection with the John Milledge school. He reported that the $20,000 borrowed for improving this school had been fully repaid.

PANIC IN A THEATER

Frightful Catastrophe Occurs at Barneley, Eng.

16 CHILDREN ARE MANGLED

In Mad Rush for Seats at an Entertainment Sixteen Children Lose Their Lives and Scores Are More or Less Seriously Injured.

Barneley, England, Jan. 14.—Sixteen children were trampled to death and forty others, several of whom cannot live, were injured in a mad rush for better seats at an entertainment given in the public hall here Saturday afternoon.

There was a great rush to secure admittance to the entertainment, and when the show opened every seat was taken, and the gallery was literally packed with children, who filled the aisles and were dangerously mashed against the lower railing.

With a view to relieving this crowding in the gallery, the attendants decided to transfer some of the children to the body of the house, and some of the ushers called out:

"Some of you children come down stairs."

Immediately the rush started, and within a few seconds hundreds of children were being trampled under foot. Even those who had seats in the gallery doubtless became panic-stricken by the screams and struggles of the crowds fighting to reach the staircase, and joined in the stampede.

Strewn with Dead and Dying.

The scene was a terrible one, the cries of the injured and moans of the dying causing the greatest excitement among those gathered in the body of the hall. Police and ushers rushed to the head of the staircases, which were literally strewn with dead and dying, and by the most desperate efforts managed to drag scores of the struggling children to the corridors below. It was with the greatest difficulty that a panic among the children in the lower part of the house was averted, all of these eventually being taken to the street in safety.

Crushed Beyond Recognition.

When the reserve police arrived they found the narrow stairway practically blocked with bodies, which were crushed beyond recognition. Scores of children were forced by the pressure from the crowd behind them to scramble over those that had fallen, whether living or dead, and many of the injured children were found later to be suffering from fractured bones and severe lacerations, caused by the indescribable manner in which they had been trampled upon.

Soon after the accident the approaches to the hall were crowded with sobbing women, searching for their missing children.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Senators Allison and Culberson Introduce Currency Bills.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 14.—Congress in standing pat with a vengeance, for it is doing nothing but introducing bills, only a very few of which will ever be reported by the committees.

After some weeks of consultation with the "financial interests" Senator Aldrich has introduced an emergency currency bill, but as the Republican leaders assure us that the panic is over and that business is resuming its normal course, this would seem to be very much like locking the stable door after the horse had been stolen. On the face of it, the Aldrich bill may be of benefit when the next panic arrives, though the interest rate of one-half per cent a month on the emergency currency is certainly not high enough to automatically retire it when the emergency is over. In fact, if the bill is rushed through, as intended, we may expect to see some of the $250,000,000 of currency provided for, issued at once, for even first-class business notes are still begging for buyers in New York at higher rates than the bill provides, and there is little money for speculation. There is so little confidence in Senator Aldrich, although he is acknowledged to be the most able and adroit member of the majority, that his measure will be closely scanned for the "nigger in the wood pile" that will favor the "financial interests." Without having had time to analyze the Aldrich bill I am inclined to the opinion that the low interest rate and the character of the securities provided for are it's two questionable features that demand careful consideration.

On the part of the Democrats, Senator Culberson introduced a bill amending the banking laws, so that interest shall be paid on public deposits, which should receive favorable consideration, but undoubtedly will be opposed by the favored national banks, and their Republican friends in the Senate. Also another amendment to require national banks to keep their own reserve instead of in the vaults of other national banks.

Senator Culberson also introduced a bill to protect deposits in national banks by requiring all banks who accept the provisions of the act to pay according to their combined capital their proportion of deposits of insolvent banks. Those banks who refuse to accept the conditions of the act are not to receive any Government deposits. That bill is perhaps intended to cover the proposition of Mr. Bryan that the Government guarantee deposits in national banks, but the Culberson bill expressly provides that "the extent of the obligation of the United States is to enforce this act." As there would be a decided objection by the strong banks to voluntarily become surety for weaker ones, it is not probable, if the bill was to pass, that enough banks would accept its provisions to make it workable. In case of panic, when weak banks fail, to compel the stronger ones to pay the depositors of insolvent banks would add to the strain and probably lead to the failure of those banks so assessed.

Senator Culberson's plan is, however, far preferable to that of Mr. Bryan's, which would further entangle the Government with the banking interests and require a vast reserve fund to meet the guarantee in time of panic. Senator Culberson, as the Democratic leader of the Senate, evidently sees the impossible conditions of the plan of Mr. Bryan and has introduced his bill as a protest against Mr. Bryan's radical proposition, without perhaps any expectation that his bill will be favorably considered.

It Builds Them Up and Makes Them Strong and Robust.

Rapid growth, overstudy, insufficient nourishment, convalescence after children's disease, and run-down conditions make children thin and delicate and stops development.

Because Vinol contains all the medicinal, bone-tissue and body-building elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cods' livers, the useless oil eliminated and peptonate of iron added, it quickly restores robust health and children love it.

Mrs. C. W. Stump of Canton, Ohio, writes: "I wish I could induce every mother who has a weak, sickly child to try that delicious cod liver preparation, Vinol, as it restored health and strength to our daughter after all else had failed."

We have never sold a medicine in our store equal to Vinol for delicate, ailing children, weak old people, or sickly women and children, and we return money if it fails to benefit.—W. M. Johnson, Druggist, Gainesville, Florida.

Wedding at Windsor.

Windor, Jan. 14.—Three weeks ago Windsor was suddenly startled by the sweet chimes of wedding bells as Miss Margaret Torode and Mr. Lucian Nichols were united in marriage. Again on January 12th the bells pealed forth merrily, and it becomes our pleasure to chronicle a pretty home wedding, when Mr. John Torode, formerly of Lynchburg, Va., led to the altar one of Windsor's fairest maidens, Miss Pearl Sherouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Sherouse. The pastor, Rev. Mathewson, spoke the mystic words which united their lives as husband and wife. Miss Ola Ormond, sister of the bride, was lady of honor.

The bride was lovely in white cashmere, with silk trimmings, and carried a bouquet of white roses. The groom was attired in conventional black.

Mrs. C. O Weakly, sister of the groom and her husband, Mr. Weakly, and his sister, Miss Alice Weakly, of Lynchburg, Va., were present at the wedding, also Windsor friends.

We wish for these dear young people many happy new years of peace and all fulness of blessing which our Heavenly Father can give.

The purchase of a fine home adjoining Mr. John Torode, Sr., insures residence in our midst of Mr. Torode and bride.

Dr. McKinstry Out.

Dr. J. F. McKinstry, Jr., who had the misfortune on Sunday morning to fall from his buggy, sustaining painful injury, was out again Tuesday. This was owing entirely to Dr. McKinstry's determined will power, as he was very painfully injured, but owing to the duty he felt that he owed to his patients he insisted on getting out again.

While considerably bruised, the good doctor's friends hope to see him himself again soon, and trust that the accident after all will prove nothing but something of an insignificant nature.

Phifer-Morris Company.

A stockholders' meeting of the Phifer-Morris Company, one of the leading mercantile interests of Gainesville, was held Tuesday, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year.

J. A. Phifer, president, H. L. Phifer, vice-president, W. O. Morris, secretary and treasurer. The directors are composed of the officers and W. B. Phifer.

Disturbed the Congregation.

The person who disturbed the congregation last Sunday by continually coughing is requested to buy a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar. J. W. McCollum & Co.

AN APOLOGY.

Editor of Dunnellon Advocate's Excuse for Issuing "Bum" Paper.

We wish to apologize to the readers of The Advocate for issuing a "bum" paper this week.

When you have heard our "tale of woe" you will bear with us this one time, we are sure.

The stork paid our home a visit Wednesday night and left a fine little baby girl—and to tell the truth about the thing—we almost forgot we had a paper.

We let all the printers off for a day Thursday to "celebrate," and at this late hour they haven't returned to work. And as the editor can't stay away from home long enough to write copy, let 'lone to set it up, we will have to ask you to forgive us our short comings this week. All of you that have a beautiful little lady—and our's is beautiful—will bear with us, and the others will have to. The editor is happy, and the mother and baby are doing well. Congratulations are in order, and we are open to receive any that have no advice tied to them. If you wish to tie something to your congratulation make it a one-dollar William, a ham or a barrel of flour, any of those little things will do.—Dunnellon Advocate.

EDITOR JORDAN'S LATEST.

Switches from Fish to Otter Stories. Good at Latter.

The Punta Gorda Herald tells a remarkable story of a man being attacked by an otter. He was a well-known local stockman, W. L. Koon, and had gone into a bayhead to bring out a stray cow when the animal made a sudden, ferocious attack on him. At first he was only amused, but the otter was so persistent in its attacks, which it renewed as often as it was knocked over, that he became tired and tried to kill it with his whip handle. Mr. Koon finally had to call to two comrades for help and one of them shot the otter dead. Editor Jordan vouches for the facts, "improbable as they may seem." We simply pass the story up to our contemporaries to match it, if they can.—Times Union.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 14.—The recent labor riots at Chathamville, La., in which a score of Bulgarians were driven from the town with shot guns, has resulted in the arrest of seventeen persons up to date, charged with participating in the fighting.

Those under arrest have been distributed over a wide territory in North Louisiana, being scattered for safe-keeping in several jails.

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Florida Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Florida readers.

A. Oerting, seaman, of 419 L. street, Pensacola, Fla., tells how to do it. He says: "From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I can strongly recommend them to anyone in need of a good medicine for the kidneys. Kidney complaint and backache caused me suffering at intervals for years. The first or second attack I did not mind, but as time went by they grew worse and at times laid me up. I could hardly walk and it was a difficult matter to straighten up after stooping, while the kidney secretions were irregular and unnatural. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. From personal experience I know that this remedy can be depended upon to fulfill the representations made for it."

WORK AT LAST FINISHED.

Pennsylvania Railroad Tunnels Under Manhattan Completed.

New York, Jan. 14.—After three years of continuous work, day and night, the Pennsylvania railroad's tunnels under Manhattan have been completed.

It was learned Monday that the final blast was fired at 5 p. m. Saturday, sixty feet under Sixth avenue and Thirty-Second street. It cleaned the last obstacle in the Thirty-second street tube, enabling two gangs of men, who had been operating from opposite directions, to greet each other through the wide aperture. The Thirty-third street tube had been blasted entirely through some weeks before.

Much work remains to be done in the tunnels under the East river, the Long Island City yards and approaches.

How to Avoid Pneumonia.

Macon Youth Dies of Lockjaw.

Macon, Ga., Jan. 14.—T. O. Shelley, Jr., a bright boy of 14 years, suffered death from lockjaw at the family home. During the Christmas holidays he fired a blank cartridge from a pistol into his hand and caused a slight wound, which was attended to at once. It soon healed and on the 26th of December some one told him a visit to Atlanta would be the best thing to do. He left that day and that dread tetanus was working upon him. Family physicians were summoned and lockjaw was administered in large quantities, but every effort proved fruitless, and only death relieved the suffering.

As the bank reports come in evidence accumulates that the chief part of the country's money is being hoarded in the banks west of the Alleghanies. This seems to us to be rather discreditable business on their part.

"Rough Riders Routed in Oklahoma," is the startling headlines in an anti-administration paper. We always feared the result when the Rough Riders went into politics, but as long as the official pap holds out they will still declare that the President is the greatest living statesman.

The Republican Federal office holders of Ohio are up against a hard proposition. If they vote against Taft at the primaries the Roosevelt administration will probably cut their heads off, and if they vote for Taft, Senators Foraker and Dick will refuse to confirm them when they are again renominated.

The charitable organizations on the Pacific Coast report that many native Americans are in need of assistance, but that the Japanese appear to have plenty of money. That is the difference between the two people. The Japanese save what the Americans waste. It is the story of the ant and the grasshopper over again.

DRAW THE LINE.

Very significant was Secretary Taft's reply, says The Wall Street Journal, to a question in regard to Government ownership of the mines and railroads. The Secretary's reply was:

"Think what would happen if all those vast powers which would go with Government ownership were put in the hands of a few men at Washington. Lord knows the powers are sufficiently concentrated there now."

This comes from the lips of a member of President Roosevelt's cabinet who is President Roosevelt's choice for the Republican nomination, and who is a firm supporter of the Roosevelt policy of Federal regulation of the corporations.

But it is one thing to advocate an increase in the Federal power to regulate, and another thing to advocate an increase in the Federal power to own.

It is highly important that we should draw the line strictly, and while clothing the Federal Government with ample power over the interstate commerce so as to prevent the abuses of individualism, we should sternly oppose any increase in the Federal power that would result in the destruction of individual liberty. We want to regulate competition, but not to annihilate it. We want to prevent private monopoly, but not by creating a Government monopoly. We want to safeguard ourselves against evils of unrestricted individual and corporate power, but we want also to safeguard ourselves against throwing upon the Government responsibilities which we as individuals should carry for ourselves.

FINANCIAL LEGISLATION

The Aldrich currency bill as far as it provides for emergency currency, secured by State and municipal bonds and drawing six per cent interest, is a wise provision against future panics, but the interest rate should be seven per cent so as to force the retirement of such currency at the earliest time possible. As Senator Aldrich is known to represent the Rockefeller and corporation interests, it will be well for Congress, at least the Democratic members, to closely scrutinize the wording of the proposed law for hidden advantages to what is known as the money power. The provision to further inflate the National bank currency by allowing banks to deposit securities other than United States bonds, is a mischievous plan that puts every bank at the mercy of the Secretary of the Treasurer, who must pass upon the securities offered. There is no need of further inflation of the currency by artificial means, for the increased output of gold and the constant increase in the number of banks of itself has inflated the currency fifty per cent in the past few years, and is one of the causes of "boom" and higher prices that led to the panic.

There is a growling in the Republican camp in Ohio over the spoils of office that may produce Democratic fruit in the future, if the Democrats take warning and get together, so that, like the Republicans, they have something to fight for.

SIGNS OF THE POLITICAL TIMES.

The Republican internecine war between the Roosevelt-Taft faction and Foraker et al is reaching a climax which indicates there may be a double delegation to the Republican National Convention from Ohio, and perhaps New York and other States. This should awaken Democrats everywhere to the fact that, with such troubles impending in the ranks of our friends the enemy, there should be united action, instead of like disagreements, in the party of the common people. The one hopeful sign that makes it possible for Democrats to agree is that there is no disagreement upon essential Democratic doctrines and policies. All believe in tariff reform. All desire to see the trusts shorn of their monopoly and trust magnates punished for conspiring to restrict trade. All acknowledge that the railroads must be compelled to charge reasonable rates. Every Democrat is opposed to building up the money power with asset currency at the expense of the people, or by unrighteous tariff taxation. No Democrat believes in subsidies for the shipping trust any more than tariff subsidies for the industrial trusts.

SOCIETY SKIMPS IN CHICAGO.

New York's Wild and Frenzied Expenditure is Not Imitated.

Chicago has its swollen fortunes, but fewer of them are in society than one would imagine, says The Delineator for January. It is to the credit of Chicago women that there is comparatively little of the wild and frenzied expenditure which prevails in New York. Chicago women dress well—at times they dress gorgeously—yet there are but few women in Chicago who refuse to wear a ball-gown a third time. Gloves go to the cleaner and so do gowns, more than once or twice or thrice. Children are dressed in the simplest fashion, and young girls wear the plainest of frocks, though the material and cut are beyond all cavil. It is undoubtedly true that in Chicago women dress far more correctly than men.

It is all but the exception, striking out the box parties and a few orchestra rows, to see a man in full dress at a theater. The business suit seems comfortable enough, and he wears it.

PUT BULLET IN HEAD.

Despondent, Augusta Man Attempts to End His Life.

Augusta, Ga., Jan. 14—Richard W. Roberts, manager of the crockery department of J. B. White & Co., shot himself through the right temple at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in his wife's bedroom. He has practically no chance of recovery. Roberts had returned to his home but half an hour before. Mrs. Roberts went into an adjoining room for a moment, but on hearing a report came out of the bedroom when a shot was fired and she found Roberts lying in front of the bed. Surgical examination developed the fact that the bullet is somewhere in the region of the brain.

Roberts did not lose consciousness, and replying to questions said he shot himself intentionally. No reason is known except the fact that his wife has for a number of years been an invalid and her condition frequently preyed upon his mind.

Local Option Law Likely To Be Continued in South Carolina.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 14—The general assembly of South Carolina will convene on Tuesday next. The questions uppermost in the minds of the legislators are prohibition and the lien law. Talks with individual members of the general assembly would lead one to believe that the Carey-Cothran law, which permits each county to say whether or not it shall have dispensary or no dispensary, will not be materially altered.

While it may be amended in unimportant ways, that is, questions of a local character in the various counties, it is almost certain that the law governing the sale of liquor as at present will stand without material alteration.

The Backward Moor.

There is no education as we understand it among the Moors. There are no clocks, and it is estimated by one who knew that not 15 per cent of the population are able to reckon the time of day. As the sun crosses the meridian at seventeen minutes past 12 a flag is run up on the tower of the principal mosque, and immediately other flags appear upon the towers of the other mosques throughout the city. This is noon. At half past 1 another flag is run up, and at sunset the evening gun is fired. This is the extent of the Moorish idea of time. Only a few of the better class have books or can read or write. The mails are carried by runners who go from Tangier to Fez in two days. They carry a loaf of coarse wheaten bread, which, together with an occasional drink of buttermilk, serves as their only sustenance.—Harold F. Sheets in Outing Magazine.

Materials for Correcting Soil Acidity

By A. W. BLAIR — Fla. Ag. Exp. Sta.

It is becoming more evident every day that some material will have to be used extensively to correct "sourness," or acidity, in Florida soils. Just what this material should be is not entirely clear in mind of many who are concerned. Quicklime, hydrated lime, air-slacked lime, and wood ashes, have all been used, and have proved effective; though they are not equally effective, pound for pound. Finely ground limestone, marl, and basic slag— sometimes called Thomas slag, or slag phosphate—have also been used to a limited extent.

Lime.

The different forms of lime have long been employed as correctives of "sour" soils. They are, however, unpleasant to handle, and they may, under some circumstances, cause injury to the soil or to the crop.

Caustic lime, or quick lime, especially, may cause an undue liberation of plant food, and a too rapid burning out of the humus. If applied near the time when the seed is sown, or after the plants are up, there is also a possibility that injury may be done to these. If this form of lime is used, it should be thoroughly worked into the soil some weeks, or even months, before the crop is planted.

Hydrated or water-slacked lime is not so likely to cause injury as quicklime, and if the proper amount of water has been added, it is not so unpleasant to handle. Seventy-four pounds of this would be equivalent to fifty-six pounds of quicklime.

Air-slacked lime is less caustic than either of the other two forms, and on this account would be safer to use. It is formed by leaving quicklime exposed to the air, and is a mixture of calcium hydrate (hydrated lime) and calcium carbonate. When quicklime is exposed to the air for a long time, so that it becomes thoroughly air-slacked, it attains the same composition as limestone; in which 100 pounds would be equivalent to 100 pounds of ground limestone, or to 56 pounds of quicklime.

Limestone and Marl.

Finely ground limestone is a more desirable material for correcting soil acidity than any of the forms of lime mentioned above. It is effective, and does not have the objectionable features which other forms have; that is, it is not unpleasant to handle, and produces no caustic or burning effect; in fact, there can hardly be any danger of applying too much. It does not, however, have the same neutralizing value as quicklime, 100 pounds being required where 56 pounds of quicklime would suffice. At present, ground limestone would probably not be found upon the market, but when it is demanded there is little doubt that some one would be ready to supply the want. There are a number of places throughout the State where limestone may be procured, and the work of the State Geological Survey will unquestionably locate other deposits. Mills, such as are used for grinding phosphate rock, could be installed at one or more of these places according to the demand.

Marl and ground shells would also be effective materials for covering soil acidity, the effectiveness depending upon their quality and fineness. A marl containing half as much calcium carbonate as a good quality of limestone, would be just half as effective as the limestone; that is, it would be necessary to apply just twice as much marl as limestone to get the same result.

Ashes and Slag.

Hardwood ashes will neutralize soil acids; and if unleached, will furnish some potash; so that it is a good policy to save all that may be produced on the farm. If hardwood ashes must be bought, however, they would prove an expensive material for this purpose. Limestone would be much cheaper. The lime in a ton of good hardwood ashes would have about the same neutralizing effect as half a ton of finely ground limestone, and a ton of such ashes would probably cost $15 to $17. The value of the potash and phosphoric acid in this ton would not exceed $5 to $7, making the cost of the lime—which as stated above would be equivalent to half a ton of finely ground limestone—$8 to $12. In Illinois the price of ground limestone in carload lots, on board the cars, varies from 50c to $1 per ton, according to the fineness. Certainly it should not cost more than double that amount in Florida.

Basic slag, or Thomas slag, is a by-product in the manufacture of steel from pigiron containing phosphorus. It contains from 15 to 20 per cent. of phosphoric acid and a large quantity of free lime, as well as some iron, magnesia, etc. If it is desired to supply the soil with phosphoric acid, in addition to correcting the acidity, this material would be well adapted for the purpose, if it can be had at a reasonable price; but if correcting acidity is the only object in view, basic slag would be too expensive.

Amounts to Use.

In most cases where a corrective for "sour" soils is needed, it will be safe to use from one-half to two tons of air-slacked lime, or from two to six tons of finely ground limestone, per acre. If limestone is used it may be applied at any time, but if it can be worked into the soil some months before the crop is planted, so much the better. It will then have more time to attack the acids.

Germany's Strict Laws.

In no country is the government more strict than in Germany. If a foreigner wishes to remain in a town for some days he must take his passport to the police and receive in exchange for it, together with a clergyman's place, a permit card, which entitles him to remain there for six months. The passport is photographed. If, however, you desire to change your lodging both you and your landlord must give notice to the police. This system recommends itself not a little, for it prevents pauper immigration. No German is allowed to leave the country unless he can show he has done the military service required of him. If a man is on the point of starting he must delay his departure until he gets a passport showing that he is a free man.

WORKING FOR FORAKER.

Florida Negroes Seeking to Capture State Republican Convention.

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan 13—An organized movement among the republican negroes in this state for J. B. Foraker for president has just come to light. It is the purpose of those interested in the movement to capture the state republican convention which will be held in St. Augustine Feb. 6, despite the earnest efforts of the office-holding republicans, who are working for Taft.

A telegram received here from Fernandina announced that the county will send a solid Foraker delegation to the state convention, they having defeated the officeholders of the party in the primary meetings to select delegates to the county convention, which will be held in Fernandina, Feb. 22.

The fight between the two factions of the party is being waged with great vigor in every county in the state.

COTTON PLANTERS TO MEET.

Sea Island Growers Will Gather at Valdosta Jan. 14.

Valdosta, Ga., Jan. 13.—Hon. Harvie Jordan, president of the Sea Island Cotton association, has called a meeting of the association in this city for January 14 and 15.

The meeting is a very important one, and a full attendance of members is urged. All farmers' organizations, business men, boards of trade and business mens' associations are also cordially invited to attend the meeting.

It is understood that the matters to be discussed will be a better financial arrangement for the protection of the cotton crop, the amount of acreage to be planted this season, and other matters of vital interest to the cotton interests. Application has been made for reduced rates on the certificate plan.

EXPRESS CLERK BADLY CUT.

Negro Was Pursued and Was Badly Beaten by Citizens.

Columbus, Ga., Jan. 13.—At Richland, Ga., Charles Lunsford, a prominent young man, who is clerk in the express office there, was attacked by a negro, following a controversy over a package consigned to the latter, and was cut in the neck, the gash being a bad one.

The negro was pursued by citizens, who caught him after a chase of three-quarters of a mile, and beat him up badly before the officers arrived. He is now in jail there. Young Lunsford will probably recover.

The package for which the negro called was a pistol sent to him from Columbus. It is said that a good many pistols have been ordered by negroes in and around Richland since the trouble of a few days ago, when a young white man was killed by negroes.

E FAMOUS MEN INVOLVED

Challenge That Cutting of New k Sent to Breckinridge of Ken-ky—The Brooks-Sumner Quarrel the Pryor-Potter Trouble.

ld the details of the causes of nu-s invitations to the field of honor der to settle differences by a re-to the code duello and the non-rialization of these expected hos-neetings be brought to light they d most assuredly prove to be in-ting reading matter. Many of flashes in the pan affairs origi-in Washington in the antebellum the early part of 1854 a big sen-n was caused because of a diffi-between John C. Breckinridge of ucky and F. B. Cutting of New , both members of the national e of representatives. It was at the when the Kansas-Nebraska bill under discussion. Cutting initi-d in a speech that Mr. Breckin-was partly responsible for an ar-that was published in the Wash-n Union, the Democratic organ in capital, which was offensive to and the two gentlemen indulged colloquy that was very near a bit-personal quarrel. In the course of r. Cutting made a remark, when Kentuckian arose and in a quiet very firm manner asked the New man to withdraw the statement. house had been listening to the arks of these gentlemen very ear-ly all the while, and when Cut-said, in answer to Breckinridge's uest that he withdraw a specified ion of his remarks (they were as-ions that Mr. Breckinridge had skulking), that he would with-w nothing there came a sensation ch developed into great excitement en Breckinridge said Cutting had ken falsely and that he knew he lied.

ow, when a gentleman called an-er gentleman a liar in that period of history it generally meant a fight some kind, and so it proved in this e, for before the day was over Mr. tting, through his friend, a Mr. urice, sent a note to Mr. Breckin-ge calling upon him to retract "or make the explanation due from one ntleman to another."

arly next morning Mr. Breckin-ge, through his friend, Colonel wkins, accepted the challenge. Both n were up to full measurement in quality of pluck required for a nguinary battle. An arrangement s made to meet at Silver Spring, in state of Maryland, which was the idence of Hon. Francis P. Blair. ey were going to fight with the or-ary rifle, but they didn't get togeth-

Mutual friends were grieved at the ea of a prospective tragedy which ght end the lives of both of these inent men. Full details of this nsaction in the interests of peace re not known, but the reconciliation s effected, though not without ur-nt reasonings, and the two became friendly as ever.

Every one knows of the assault upon nator Sumner of Massachusetts by eston S. Brooks of South Carolina. one seemed to think that a chal-ge to the South Carolina man would me out of this lamentable affair. ooks, it is very well known, was in-sely angered at remarks made by r. Sumner concerning Senator Butler South Carolina, who was an uncle Brooks. This was in May, 1856. e Massachusetts senator had said in speech the day before that Senator tler showed an incapacity for accu-cy, whether in stating the constitu-n or in stating the law. He also d, "He cannot open his mouth—but t there flies a blunder." The excite-nt over this affair was not confined Massachusetts and this country, but tended across the sea, particularly to gland. Massachusetts was stunned th horror. Even Wendell Phillips d William Lloyd Garrison were oused to anger.

In the meantime Mr. Brooks was aiting a challenge from some one. nator Wilson, Sumner's colleague d later vice president of the United ates, made a speech in which he said attack upon Mr. Sumner was "bar-rous and ruffianly." Mr. Brooks was mpt to send him a challenge for ing these words. Senator Wilson s opposed to "the code" and conse-ently declined the challenge. He t word to his challenger, however, t he was ready to defend himself enever assailed. But some one had come to the front for the sake of the r that honored Sumner. Anson rlingame was the man. He was aft ward, as nearly every one knows, American minister to China and author of the agreement known as Burlingame treaty. He was at the e of the attack upon Sumner a rep-entative in congress from Massa-setts. He made a speech in which said that Brooks entered the senate chamber and smote Sumner as Cain smote his brother Abel. Mr. Brooks sought some explanation concerning parts of Burlingame's speech, but the Massachusetts man said he would allow his remarks to interpret themselves, and Mr. Brooks sent him a note—a very polite note—which read as follows:

Sir—You will do me the kindness to indicate some place outside of this District where it will be convenient for you to negotiate in reference to the differences between us.

On the same day Mr. Burlingame answered as follows:

Sir—Your note of this date was placed in my hands by General Lane this afternoon. In reply I have to say I will be at the Clifton House, Canada side of Niagara falls Saturday next at 12 a. m. to "negotiate" in reference to any "difference between us" which, in your judgment, may require settlement outside of this District.

This expected duel was another that did not materialize. It was prevented by some means. The relations of the law got in their work, and the gentlemen were put under heavy bonds not to violate the statutes.

During the discussions upon the Lecompton measure the Kansas-Nebraska act and the repeal of the Missouri compromise measure there was more acrimony in congress than in any other era in its existence—that is when folks began to call the house a bear garden. It was almost as bad in the senate. It was during a debate on the Kansas-Nebraska act in the senate Senator Douglas of Illinois and Senator Green of Missouri (poor old Jim Green, who is never spoken of by those who knew him but with pity for the unfortunate drinking habit that occasioned his downfall) had trouble.

Green in his speech said that Douglas did not dare to controvert him. It was a debate in which Jefferson Davis got mixed up, and there were personalities all around. There was some movement toward a duel at that time between Douglas and Green. Notes had passed, and everybody expected there would be something going on at Bladensburg, but friends intervened and prevented a hostile meeting.

Then there comes to mind that famous Pryor-Potter trouble, which grew out of a charge that Potter, who was a Wisconsin man, had interpolated the manuscript of the house reporter. The quarrel that began over that resulted in Mr. Pryor, who represented the Richmond (Va.) district, sending Potter a challenge. Potter, while disclaiming allegiance to the code, said he would fight Pryor indoors or out in the District with bowie knives. Pryor declined to fight in this way on the ground that the weapons were barbarous, inhuman and not used among gentlemen. Then General Lander, who was Potter's friend, offered to fight Pryor in any way, but his offer was declined on the ground that he (Pryor) had had no quarrel with Lander.

There were other duels expected in Washington in the dueling days that never took place, but those cited here are about the most important of the episodes.—Washington Post.

The Call of the Dime Novel.

Between the writer and his constituents there was a bond of affection which incited him to make them glad to be alive. In the mind of every healthy boy there is romance. For that boy's entertainment the producer of dime fiction strewed romance through farm, mining camp and city street. Out of his surroundings, however sordid, the boy was lifted. He became to himself the center of the universe. At the particular spot on the globe on which he stood all the parallels and the meridians converged. In no more intense a degree than this did exaltation ever come to the Count of Monte Cristo—the world was his. What was Edmond Dantes' paltry $20,000,000 to the vast treasures, physical and spiritual, spread out by Osbon before "Plucky Paul, the Boy Prospector," and his tens of thousands or hundreds of thousands of readers?—C. M. Harvey in Atlantic.

Hat Raising In Germany.

The etiquette of hat raising in Germany is one of those things which may betray the foreigner into unintentional rudeness through sheer ignorance. A correspondent knows of a German lady who was puzzled and hurt because some Englishmen whom she had met before did not raise their hats to her in the street until the explanation came that she expected them to do it of their own accord by the German rule instead of waiting for her to recognize them first by the English. These differences of national etiquette are great pitfalls. A converse case was that of an Englishman staying in a German town who accompanied his host's wife to a concert. Walking home, he gave her the inside of the pavement, according to English manners, but the host, who happened to see this, was rendered painfully suspicious by this unfamiliar attention.—London Chronicle.

KIRBY SMITH EXERCISES.

General Lee's Birthday to be Observed Friday Evening.

The ladies of Kirby Smith Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, have decided to hold a musicale on Friday evening, the 17th inst., in memory of the birthday of General Robt. E. Lee. This entertainment will be held two days in advance of the event, on account of the birthday occurring this year on Sunday. The program as arranged by the committees, however, is complete in every way, and will comprise musical and vocal selections of the highest order, which are bound to be appreciated by our people.

There will be a small admission fee charged, but the proceeds will go as a benefit to the Old Soldiers' Home in Jacksonville, and to the student scholarship at the University.

This will prove a most enjoyable musical treat, and everyone in Gainesville should attend.

NORTH GAINESVILLE'S PROGRESS

Citizens of That Section of City Have the Streets Cleared.

The citizens of North Gainesville, one of the suburbs of the city, but who consider themselves "separate and distinct" from the town proper, never believe in having the mud under their feet, as do those of the City Council who have charge of affairs in the main part of town, who would not mind if they saw a pedestrian walking up to the top of his shoes in mud.

It is understood that the progressive citizens of North Gainesville—and they are most all progressive—got together and decided that it would be a good idea to get rid of the slush and mud caused by the recent heavy weather—and they got rid of it. That is more than the street committee of the city did—but then the street committee had so much to do it was impossible to favor one section without the other, so they let the whole business go.

ADVENT CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

Rev. Mrs. McKinstry Continues to Interest Good Crowds.

The Rev. Mrs. McKinstry's lecture at the Advent Christian church Monday evening proved to be of great interest, and was listened to by a good crowd.

These lectures increase in interest, and those who hear them wonder at the speaker's ability to trace history so extensively and so accurately, all from memory.

Mrs. McKinstry uses no notes, but locates the place of importance on the map as she, in condensed form and in her very interesting manner, traces the history of the empires.

There are people in Gainesville who don't know what they are missing, but they are missing it just the same.

Dr. Frye, the eye-sight specialist, concerning whom announcement was made last week, has received such a flattering practice during his stay in this city that he has consented to remain during this week. During his stay he has fitted glasses for a large number of patients, including some of the most prominent people of the city, and none but words of praise and commendation are heard from those whom he has served. Persons desiring to avail themselves of his visit can arrange an engagement at his room or for him to call at residence and make examination. Room 23, Brown House. Free examination.

The delay of the shipments of cigar tobacco to this city, which have been overdue for the past week or more, caused the cigar industry to lay idle for a while here, with the result that the cigar makers have had plenty of time to go fishing and hunting. But the shipments have arrived now, and the force of the La Matanzas Cigar Factory will get down to business again this morning.

Such a Good Investment

A watch for a man or woman, boy or girl, is such a good investment. It is a faithful servant and always retains for years to come its first value; that is, if you buy a Standard Watch. Buying a cheap watch one can only expect to get cheap results. It is not only an unfaithful servant and unreliable timekeeper, but it soon loses all possible value. Why not come here and let us talk Watch Wisdom to you? Our line is just about as complete as money and experience can make it, and our prices are the modest profit kind, beginning as low as $10.
